The History Timeline of Wittenborg

Wittenborg formally drops the 'Hogeschool' title	2014	Master of Business Administration (MBA) and 3 specialisations awarded initial accreditation by FIBAA.
and becomes Wittenborg University of Applied Sciences.	2013	Wittenborg gains both NVAO re-accreditation
Wittenborg starts offering master and bachelor programmes in hospitality, tourism and event management together with its UK partner University of Brighton.	2012	and FIBAA initial accreditation for its Bachelor of Business Administration Programme in 8 specialisations.
	2011	Move: with the support of the municipality, Wittenborg moves the entire school from
	2010	Deventer to Apeldoorn to a bespoke location within the Aventus ROC (College).
Closure of Dutch taught programmes and Wittenborg becomes 100% English speaking.	2009
	2008	Wittenborg bought by the Swiss-Chinese- British Birdsall-Feng family.

After the introduction in the Netherlands of	2006	Wittenborg gains NVAO accreditation for its all-English taught Bachelor of International Business Administration programme with three specialisations.
national accreditation in 2003, Wittenborg starts its journey of formalizing its degree programmes.	2004	Wittenborg starts its first English-taught international foundation class for around 50 students from China and Vietnam, however its very first international student came from Wittenborg moves to the Nieuwe Markt (Deventer), in a larger building to accommodate	2003	Seoul, South Korea.
international students alongside its +/- 120 Dutch students.	2003	Hogeschool Wittenborg begins to offer (Dutch 1998	taught) bachelor degrees in Financial Service, Real Estate, Business Administration & Communication Management.
Gained Degree Awarding Powers and became Hogeschool Wittenborg. Wittenborg started to offer Associate Degree level courses.	1996	 21st September 1987 - Founding of Wittenborg College by Entrepreneur Henk Nijkamp in Hansiatic Dutch Town of Deventer.
	1987	Wittenborg taught vocational courses in marketing, financial services and real estate.